General Comment

Thank you for supporting no-cost birth control. This is a vast improvement for health care in preventing unintended pregnancies and sends a message to women that their health care is just as important as a man's. It is unfair and a violation of the separation of church and state to allow exemptions for some religious employers. Studies show that religious women have a wide range of views on contraceptives and many of them use some form of contraceptives. Don't abandon women now when you've come so close to doing what is right.
