The government has clearly shown time and time again that they have no idea of how to take care of its Citizens. And it clearly showns that the citizens have a better understanding of how to run THEIR Lives than the government does. This is nothing but stealing in the care of the government.

This, if passed could very well be what is needed for the citizens to rise up against a corrupt Government and completely remove it from power, by force if need be.