Dear Sir,

I have lived in the US for eighteen years and have been married to a US citizen for twenty-seven.
We lived in Holland for a while came back in 2001. Two years later I was shot by a drunk in Texas, and paralyzed from the chest down. I therefore do not qualify for medicare and private insurance is too expensive.

I realize I am an exception to the rule, but I still desperately need medical insurance of some kind.

I would request further dispensation for disabled in as far as medicare or National Health is concerned.

Sincerely,

Gregory Allport
Nederland, Texas.
