

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF LABOR
HALL OF HONOR INDUCTEES

Mark

AYERS

THE BUILDER

We stand taller because he showed us how to build together. With a commitment to cooperation and consensus, Mark Ayers led the Building and Construction Trades Department of the AFL-CIO into a new era, raising our cities and the hopes of working people.

Addie

WYATT

THE BELIEVER

She showed us there are sparks of faith and dignity that can never be extinguished. Side by side with Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., Addie Wyatt refused to abandon her unshakeable belief in human rights and social justice.

SECTORS

“They are our champions.
They are our change.
They are our promise to never give up.”

— HILDA L. SOLIS

Dolores

HUERTA

THE TEACHER

She said, “Si, se puede” and gave us courage. Dolores Huerta stared down brutality and injustice to secure fairer wages and working conditions for farmworkers and to rouse us to demand a more equal and inclusive nation and world.

Tony

MAZZOCCHI

THE REFORMER

He cleared the air and inspired us with a vision of what lay beyond the cloud of poisons polluting our workplaces. Tony Mazzocchi applied his fierce will and tremendous grassroots skills to enshrine workers’ fundamental rights to safety and health as the law of our land.

UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

19
20
100 YEARS
3
3

THEN NOW NEXT

U.S. Department of Labor
Hilda L. Solis, Secretary of Labor