General Comment

When it comes to the rights extended to all American citizens, the understood rule is that you may exercise those rights how you see fit until it begins to infringe on the rights of others, or endanger their safety and health. Repealing this law or expanding the exemptions would limit the choices women have. These are choices we deserve, choices we have a right to. No one else should have any power or say over our reproductive health. No one else gets to say what we do with our bodies.

We cannot allow any woman's health or liberties to be jeopardized or revoked because of SOMEONE ELSE'S belief. That is wrong. Just plain wrong, as well as unconstitutional.

DO NOT BACK DOWN. We won a great battle with this rule, do not change that.
