General Comment

As a Catholic I do not believe in in the use of contraceptives. This law is using my tax dollars (yes I'm one the 50% that pays income taxes and it is a significant amount) to force religious institutions to follow principles that are in direct conflict with their religious beliefs. This is just another law that will have significant unintended consequences, like shutting down charitable services for the needy. November 2012 is coming soon, wake up or you'll be joining the millions your policies have already put in the unemployment lines. I don't understand how you sleep at night.
