General Comment

I didn't see a category for access. I want to make the access to anyone's records harder to do than what they are currently. Just about anyone can access records listed on the internet. I have instructed all of our doctors not to put I and my wife's records, but they say by law they have to list them. I contend this is not so. They can list them locally and restrict access. Please respond to this and let me know if I am correct.
