General Comment

No help needed or wanted from the government to manage MY money. I am intelligent ,have taken care of myself and family for years without any so-called help from government. I can manage my retirement money as well. It is obvious that the government could use my help, and help from others to manage government money, given the sorry state of this government's finances. How dare the government, that cannot manage money, even suggest it can do better with MY money than I can. I am not in debt. Can the government say the same? CASE CLOSED!
