RIN 1210-AB79

I want the fiduciary rule to stand. I want the financial advice I receive to be in my best interest.

My financial decision is that I am going to rely on the services on a financial advisor who works in my best interest. I have neither the knowledge nor the expertise to evaluate whether the financial advice I receive supports "the priority of the administration to facilitate my ability to save for retirement and build the individual wealth necessary to afford lifetime expense." (Presidential Memorandum dated February 3, 2017.)

My decision is to receive financial advice that "facilitates my ability to save for retirement and build the individual wealth necessary to afford lifetime expense."
