General Comment

Dear Sir / Madam,

I highly value the capability to trade options in the IRA account. It allows me (and other investors) to reduce risks using a variety of techniques such as selling covered calls, purchasing a protective Put. Furthermore, by risking only a fraction of the capital, the purchase of calls / puts may lead to gains that may be compounded over a period of time. Options trading is one of the best tools in the investors arsenal and a path to earn income on a consistent basis.

I urge you to allow the investors to continue with options trading in the IRA accounts.
