General Comment

I currently trade options in my retirement IRA and it gives me the chance to increase my returns to the point that I don 't have to rely totally on Social Security. If this investment technique is taken away, I along with millions of retirees will lose out on returns that are better than the savings rate which we know is pathetic. I learned to trade options by myself and anyone can do it with a little reading. Please don't remove one of the few opportunities that now exist to create better returns for retirees.
