General Comment

You apparently think the small investor has no method of learning how to invest properly. If you remove cash put selling and covered call selling you will have removed the two most important aspects of my investment portfolio. There is ample information available for the average investor and more regulations in regard to how we invest will only cause us harm. Do not change the way we can invest OUR money within IRAs and 401ks. You have no good reason to change the way we are investing. It is our money and we are responsible for it, you are not!
