Please think clearly and fairly before you start changing these rules and regulations.

In order to grow our portfolio, and retirement accounts, a majority of us have taken great time and effort to learn proper options trading. I realize some option trades have risks, but some actually reduce risk. I feel if one is involved in trading, and has calculated the risk involved, this is their choice. Isn't that what this is all about (risks)? I feel strongly that if wall street can use these tools, I should be able to use these tools.

Thank You.
