Hello:

I read where you are considering removing covered options for IRA or 401K accounts held with Brokers or in self-directed IRA's. I am of the opinion that this money is my money. I have worked for it and I should have a say in how it is invested. Let's face it, so the US government has done an awful job of spending my tax dollars. It has also generously spent my "social security" on those who are not even legal residents here. I purchase covered options in my IRA to make additional income due to the low interest rates abounding in the market now.

I studied options trading by taking the the educational materials provided by two of my brokers. I also practiced "paper trading" while learning in these classes.

Please do not take away this opportunity to make money. I am quite sure I will need all the money I can accumulate for my retirement.

Thank you,

Valerie Clayton
