Hello,

I am addressing the issue today on trading options in a retirement account.

I DEFINETLEY approve of buying and selling options, and also make quite a bit of money and with the safety of trading options.

Please DO NOT propose a bill against the use of trading options in any retirement accounts.
That would NOT be prudent for retirees or for the economy.

Retired folks need to have the safe extra income which banks are not providing for in today's environment.

Thank you and please take my comment as very credible advise.

Sincerely,

Patricia Haas
