We are a small company but have 160 active participants in our 401k plan. This is a large order and will cost money. The money will come from plan assets.

Why don't you produce a general fact sheet with links to sites they can calculate their SS benefit and work out their 401K benefit at current contribution level, retirement age and account balance. Or put this on a web page that has the tools on it and give a $10 tax credit for using it?
