I am retired and planned just fine without the government's intervention. With guidance from a good financial planner to get them started early enough, anyone can retire without the government's help. The government should have no hand in peoples retirement. The government has a history of poor financial management. Therefor they should not be allowed to touch peoples retirement savings and investments.