General Comment

Keep your bloody hands off my retirement money. It's my money. Say that to yourself a few times, "Its my money". That's all you have to remember. You can be very convincing when you say it, "My money". That's real clear and says it all. We all worked hard to get it, we did without things so we could have some security in our old age. The absolute last thing any of us want is the government taking control of our money. Sooner or later all big bloated governments run out of other people's money. You get the taxes. That is all you get. No. Zero. Nada. Zip. Nothing else
Do you get the message?
