Please require investment advisors to have a fiduciary duty to act in the best interest of their clients for their retirement accounts!!! I think most Americans would be shocked if they found out that this was not required. I was personally hurt by a large investment bank broker that I trusted in 2006. He sold me on a retirement vehicle that had high fees and did not even go up during the market rise from 2008 through 2011. I missed a large market increase thanks to this self serving broker who represented that he had my interest in mind, but clearly did not. Luckily I pulled out my money from the investment bank and put it in a self-directed IRA in a low fee mutual funds tied to the overall market. Please don't allow these SUPER WEALTHY brokers to line their pockets with more of our hard earned retirement money. Stand for what's morally right and NOT with the financial industry and politicians (that the investment banks are paying) to continue their evil ruse on the current and future retirees of this country!!!!

Respectfully,
Doug Rogers
