Completely and utterly ludicrous if the idea is to “force” 401K monies into annuity like products or otherwise...An “option” is fine, but the fact that you are even considering such a socialist idea is chilling to say the least. I certainly don’t need the gov’t telling me how to manage my money....It’s my money and I’ll do what I want with it....In fact, let me have the money I pay into Social Security while you’re at it...
