I have worked hard and will not give up the controll of my 401K (I've worked 20 years to get what I have in my retirement and that is worth just as much to keep). The government is corrupt and takes advantage of the stupid. There is a scheme called social security out there that I am forced to particiapate in that was to do just what this suggestion is supposed to do. As of now I feel a whole lot more comfortable relying on my work and decissions than the government promises and siezures.
