I am writing to let you know that I am opposed to any scheme that would allow the government to take over the management of my retirement accounts. I am an adult and perfectly capable of managing my own affairs. I began contributing to private retirement accounts precisely for the reason that, due to the government's incompetent management, I knew I could not rely on Social Security. The funds in these accounts are private property, and to seize them, whether outright or by "managing" them for me against my will, would be a gross violation of individual human rights. Please keep your hands off my money.

Yours truly,
