Sirs: If this is truly the "Public Comment" site for our take on your proposal to annuitize 401(K)s, then please accept the following comment into the public record: Hands off our retirement plans. We know what you are up to. Soon, foreigners will not be buying your Treasuries, so once again, the public is being chosen to take on your monetary burdens. The worst burdens at the worst possible time. Once again, the American citizens (and fading middle class) are being singled out to bear the burdens of your mistakes.

First, it will be a "choice" or an "option". Later it will be mandatory. Then, when the currency is devalued, or we have a currency crisis, or we go into hyperinflation what will be our choices? I knew when I first paid social security that it was a scam, and already they are discussing "means testing", which means that a) if you make too much, you must step aside for "others less fortunate"; or b) if you have too much saved, you must step aside for "others less fortunate". So it will be with this, and I don't need the lessons of Argentina ten years ago to tell me this.

Our nation, to be strong and stay strong, must serve the people and the Constitution. Government must serve the people and the people wish to be free. Government, and the Supreme Court, have never been further from upholding Constitutional matters, from privacy to Rule of Law to Monetary matters. Markets have never been so manipulated, private property has never been so much in danger, a once-prosperous Middle Class has been decimated from out of control Government actions and decisions.

I wish to go on record opposing this Government usage of our Retirement holdings.

Sincerely, Thomas L. Dankiewicz
