For the public record:

I'm protesting the coercive mandate that all "contraceptives" and sterilization procedures be covered by private health insurance with no co-pay to patients.

I believe I represent the 70% of all Americans who call themselves Christians, in opposing the government forced free insurance coverage for birth control. Our constitution is based on Christian principals. You should reconsider your definition of religious employer and offer an authentic conscience protection. The definition of "religious employer" does NOT only include churches, but must include businesses and organizations that have conscience objections.

You should protect the conscience rights of insurers, providers and people like me who object to being forced by the federal government to offer or subsidize contraceptives and sterilization services, especially when some of these drugs can take the life of unborn children. Offer instead free abstinence programs!

Sincerely,
Robert Barton
