General Comment

I don't think that this document is worth the expense of $57 million. It is my experience that it will not be read by the those it is intended to assist. This is the job of the insurance professionals. I am watching companies going under or closing offices and cutting back and people losing jobs and unable to pay bills out here on main street. Now it appears as though the livelihoods of thousands more of insurance professionals will be at stake. That will not help this economy. This money will be better spent on jobs to get the economy going. They need to call an insurance professional for assistance.
