Delaying this common sense move can only be explained by an irrational deference to the financial community that would benefit from this delay....do the right thing and make them provide ethical choices or face consequences..anything else is criminal.