The fiduciary rule is a vital and logical regulation that should be implemented on time, a 60 day delay does nothing to protect consumers or the integrity of the financial industry. Many institutions are already gearing up for compliance so a delay would cause more regulatory confusion.