I am in support of this extension. As our social systems have become more complex than most older folk can follow, they need to be able to seek help and receive the proper advice on how to handle their affairs.