Department of Labor,

The Republican Administration has done many things since they took office that are not in the public interest. This is one of the most egregious.

There is no way to defend a policy that favors a financial advisor's profit over his obligation to his client.

Michael Lewis describes the "Liars' Poker" that is played on Wall Street. This rule to protect against conflict of interest is necessary. You are the guardians of the citizens of this country. Trust is already severely eroded. Please do your job.
