General Comment

I am writing on behalf of myself, in opposition to the proposed delay of the Department of Labors fiduciary rule.

The fiduciary rule is necessary to ensure that Americans receive investment advice that is in their own interests, instead of conflicted sales pitches for high-fee products. For years, the financial industry has put its own interests first, costing investors billions of dollars. The fiduciary rule, which is currently slated to go into effect on April 10, would change that. I believe that any delay would needlessly perpetuate conflicted advice at investors expense.

For the benefit of the millions of Americans saving for retirement, I ask that the Department of Labor allow the fiduciary rule to go into effect this April.

Sincerely,

Daniel York
