Subject: Repeal the DOL intrusion

To : A common sense sane official in the DOL. I went thru extensive training and testing to be licensed as a Financial Advisor. The overriding rule I learned over my 40 years in the Financial Industry was to take good care of my customers. The rules and training and compliance follow-up came from the SEC and my broker-dealer. I have built a good practice and treat my customers as 'family'. The stress and worry I experience over the years tells me I am truly motivated to match the correct investment with the personality and needs of each person. People trust me with their life savings and I do my very best to make their money last their lifetime. Suddenly a political outside group (the DOL) appears and thinks they know what is best for all the retirement investors in the country. Investment decisions for people are now dictated by the DOL. The SEC has done an excellent job since the 1930's. This DOL fiduciary Rule should be titled the "AEA " or Attorney Enrichment Act. Investment decisions made today can change years from now. The ambulance chasers are lining up to come after Financial Advisors. The American worker – working hard all their lives – now face no pensions -- unstable social security -- and the government dictating how to save for 'retirement'. I cannot help small investors anymore, for fear of a lawsuit. DOL - stick with labor problems and stay out of areas you are not qualified to destroy !! Robert Steele. Financial Advisor.
