General Comment

Withdraw your new proposed rule RIN 1210AB90 that would change how I get information about my retirement plan,

Generally, under the current rules, we get our information on paper by mail unless we decide we want to get it electronically instead. This is common sense.

I am worried that under the new rule, everyone will now have to scramble to find information that we are entitled to under the law. This is unfair and will hurt millions of workers, retirees and spouses who should get important information about our retirement plans as easily and readily as possible. Even people who know computers well should be able to count on getting their retirement information through the mail, so we can keep the documents and check to make sure nothing is going wrong.

It is unfair that not only will we hunt for information that belongs to us, then we will have to bear the extra costs of buying computers, and printers that make it possible for us to keep up with ever-changing new technology. And if people dont have computers, we will be forced to go to libraries and other places to get what the law says we should be getting as a matter of course.
