General Comment

I ask you to withdraw your new proposed rule RIN 1210AB90 that would change how I get information about my retirement plan.

Generally, under the current rules, we get our information on paper by mail unless we decide we want to get it electronically instead. This is common sense. I am worried that under the new rule, everyone will now have to scramble to find information that we are entitled to under the law. This is unfair and will hurt millions of workers, retirees and spouses who should get important information about our retirement plans as easily and readily as possible. Everybody should be able to count on getting their retirement information through the mail, so we can keep the documents and check to make sure nothing is going wrong.

The Department of Labor is supposed to be protecting the rights of workers and retirees. That's why we ask that you withdraw the rule and go back to the drawing board. This is our information and we should be able to get it in the most easy and efficient manner.
