General Comment

This proposed rule should not be passed! It undermines long-term U.S. economic prosperity. It also tramples on the libertarian principles upon which this country was founded. The federal law governing pensions and 401(k) plans already requires their managers to make decisions in the best interest of workers and retirees. This proposed rule would add an unnecessary layer of bureaucracy. Further, it is too prescriptive and would be another case of government overreach that diminishes free choice.
