General Comment

I am very concerned that the Department of Labor is considering a proposal that would limit my ability to invest in retirement options that consider environmental impacts and societal criteria.

I am a taxpaying citizen and a working mother, and our nation's ongoing consumption of fossil fuels threatens our planet. Overwhelming scientific consensus tells me that my children's futures will be compromised terribly unless we dramatically reduce greenhouse gas emissions. So I object strenuously to the federal government intervening to restrict my ability to choose environmentally responsible investments.
