General Comment

Proposed rule RIN 1210-AB95, issued by the Employee Benefits Security Administration to amend ERISA should be approved. It is only right and "fair" that retirement funds be invested only for maximum financial benefit and not to favor the political agenda of any particular group or groups. Allowing investment for favored political agendas instead of impartially for financial benefit only, unfairly uses the money of persons opposed to those agendas to promote them without their knowledge and consent. The money in retirement funds is the property of those owning the accounts and should not be secretly used for political purposes which may both reduce their financial gain and work against the political interests of the owners. RIN 1210-AB95 is the only position that impartially protects the interests of all retirees of differing political views.
