General Comment

As a shareholder in several publically traded corporations I see some of them compromising their duty toward shareholders in an effort to signal virtue to environmental advocates and other liberal groups. This must stop. Our public universities have abandoned their duty to teach students and have devoted their resources to indoctrinating students in anti capitalism and social justice ideas. The Federal government has a duty to compel by rule of law corporations and pension fund managers from abusing funds entrusted to them by engaging in "social justice" causes. Therefore I support this proposed rule.
