General Comment

Dear Director Canary,

As an individual investor who was able to take advantage of my company's 401k, I am outraged to hear that you are considering limiting institutions' ability to offer ESG funds as a retirement plan option.

Many ESG funds meet or exceed the returns of non-ESG funds. Institutions and employees are fully capable of assessing risk and return as well as the fund's investment philosophy.

As long as accurate performance information is ensured, individuals should not have their hands tied regarding their investment priorities. This is government overreach.

Do not move forward with this rule.

Sincerely,

Leslie Fisher
