This rule allows employers to invest your savings in a stock based solely on that company’s “progress on workforce diversity [and] inclusion. . .” as opposed to, you know, profit and growth potential. I strongly oppose this rule because my bank account should remain private and should NOT be accessed by ANY employer of ANY type of company. Diversity is nothing but government propaganda. Reality is so much worse than the sickest joke.