General Comment

As a concerned citizen, I want my investments to reflect my values. It is often difficult to find retirement plans that invest in environmentally responsible companies. It has been shown that ESG funds have competitive returns compared to the broader market and lower downside risk. I ask you to support the proposed rule, which would enable retirement managers to evaluate all factors that impact risk and return, including climate change, which affects nearly every sector of the economy. Please adopt this new rule so that I can align my investments with my values, and support the clean energy economy.
