General Comment

I have worked hard throughout my life. I was not a privileged white person who was handed everything on a silver platter. I am not rich. I am angry that the current government leaders feel that American citizens owe them whatever funds they are spending on their wish list. The green new deal, free handouts to migrants illegally crossing our borders, and more IRS agents to help enact all these things are not what the American people want. Government has always worked for the people. But now it is obvious this is not the case, that our leaders are corrupt and our freedom is quickly evaporating. I am sad about the current state of affairs in a country I love. Government needs to keep to a budget just like citizens do. Shame to all the politicians that are not working for the good of their citizens!
