Federal Registrar John smith,

Greetings from a soon-to-be retiree. Since some of my retirement money is invested in my employer's retirement plan, I am keenly watching the rules about how those funds are invested.

I care about the climate and our adaptation to changes. I care about every person getting equitable treatment and decent working conditions. I want my retirement dollars invested in a careful and conscious manner, taking into account the real world impact of those investments.

Workers and their retirement plans should have the right to take the big picture into account regarding which companies they support and finance with their hard earned savings. Please see that previous rules that discourage sustainable investing get changed.

Thank you.
