General Comment

This regulation is beyond its scope within the DOL. Investments should not be dictated by the federal government. Investments are an individual choice and should be based on ROI for the risk taker - i.e. the investor. It is unbelievable that any investment consideration would include climate change and any other environmental, social, and governance propaganda.

Let individuals decide on what they want to invest in and how much risk they want to take. STOP telling / dictating to people and businesses how to function, operate, run their lives. This government overreach has extended well beyond its constitutional responsibility.
