Federal Registrar John smith,

Most workers and retirees don't give much thought to the nature of their investments. They trust whoever manages those investments to make good choices. However, many of us have recently come to understand that we prefer our savings to be invested in safe and sustainable ways that promote healthy returns, a healthy economy, and a healthy society and planet. That means ensuring that the updated rules fully reverse the Trump-era rules by eliminating all prohibitions and burdens that discourage retirement plans from considering workplace safety, climate impact, racial equity and other conditions that affect the long-term sustainability of the business.
