General Comment

It's been brought to my attention that possible changes from this rule would include essentially "outlawing" the use of options within IRA accounts. You would significantly reduce investment flexibility by doing this. Please don't allow that to happen. The government can't protect against every possible mishap. An when you try, you likely hurt more than you're helping.