General Comment

I currently sell covered call options in my IRA account to generate income and some return in a low interest rate environment. I certainly do NOT want this ability to write options to change, which seems to be the case in this new proposed rule.

Please, no more protection from the government!

I've had about all the "help" I can stand from the government already. Leave the rules along, Go onto something else.

I am adamantly opposed to this proposed change.
