General Comment

I would greatly appreciate that Selling Covered Calls in your 401(k) be retained. To date this year I have collected over $5,500 in premiums. If the stock was ever called it was always at a price I was willing to sell. Selling covered calls may reduce upside appreciation, but is gives me additional protection by collecting basically "interest" on my holdings as well as locking in realized gains or stop losses when if the stock is called.
