General Comment

Since the economic crash of 2008 - 09 there are very few choices on how to make money for retirement. Being able to use options inside the IRA is important for retired people like me that have studied and know the right way to use options. You people in government have forced us into the stock market with 0% interest rates forever. So don't take away tools that work. We need more tools not less. This ruling will force many people into the corrupt hands of the financial industry. I don't want that. I want to be able to control my own money inside my IRA using every tool available. The stock market is rigged against small investors and you let Wall Street crooks rob us every day. If you take away our ability to use options you are just making the situation worse for main street.
