General Comment

I'll keep this short and sweet. Drop this proposed rule immediately, please. Allow individuals the freedom to trade options in their retirement accounts. I presently have the right to do so, have done well with it, and would like to continue trading options in my own retirement accounts. My retirement account is better off because I have traded options and have the right to continue to do so. Do not take that particular liberty away from me as well as all the others this government has taken. Leave our retirement accounts alone, please. Thank you.
