General Comment

Do not make options trades in IRA's illegal. Options are used to take off risk, get stock at lower prices, and achieve a nice rate of return on stocks I own. Options selling is a core part of my IRA, and investment strategy. There is no need to protect us here, brokerages will not let you trade options without a history and appropriate experience level. Do not change the rules on options for IRA's, you will be taking away a tool that lowers risk, and enhances returns in a very volatile and low return environment.
